“Let’s end this fight,” said the Sun. “The one who makes the Man take off his coat is the strongest.”

“Okay,” said the North Wind, and sent a fierce, cold wind toward the Man. But the Man just held his coat tighter. The harder the Wind blew, the tighter he held his coat.

Then, the Sun began to shine. At first, the Sun was nice and warm after the cold North Wind, so the Man loosened his coat. Then, the Sun shined hotter and hotter. Soon the Man became too hot, so he took off his coat.

You must take on the identity of the person, place, or thing indicated below. Information about each is provided. Please read the information before beginning this section.

- Please warn your student when there are only two questions left.
